Holmes Street Storytelling and Bluegrass Festival

Holmes Street Storytelling and Bluegrass Festival will take place May 2nd at 7:00 PM at 501 Holmes Street, Founder's Hall at Holmes Street United Methodist Church. Featured performers include Bruce Walker and Buck P Creacy, storytellers; James Smith and the Walker Street Opry, Bluegrass.

Bruce Walker will be celebrating the national distribution of his storytelling CD-"Good for the Soul" at a release party held during the festival. Bruce's stories are based on life observations and family lore. Bruce has appeared at the Three Foot Festival in Meridian, MS, and at the Black Warrior Storytelling Festival, Tuscaloosa.

Walker Street Opry is comprised of seasoned Bluegrass veterans who have played with Claire Lynch, Iron Horse and other established Bluegrass acts. They perform Bluegrass standards as well as songs of their own composition.

Buck P Creacy is known as the "Working Man's Storyteller", he has appeared at the NSN Storytelling Conference, Tale Spinner Festival and has recorded numerous CDs on the Aslan label.

James Smith is known as the "Autoharp Man from Al-a-bam!" James performs roots music that he describes as "the music behind the music we hear today."
